Texas May Toss Hot Potato In GOP Convention

(By The Associated Press)
Lone Star State Republicans meet today for decisions that could make the Texas delegation to the GOP convention in Chicago a crucial hot potato.
The Texas state Republican convention meets tomorrow to name 38 delegates to the convention. But by that time an intraparty fight between backers of Sen. Robert A. Taft and Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower for the Republican Presidential nomination may have developed into a Texas GOP split that will keep the issue in doubt until the Chicago convention meets.

Bolt Threatened

The state GOP executive committee was to judge today between rival Taft and Eisenhower backers claims to control of 31 out of 38 county delegations to tomorrow's state convention. Eisenhower Republicans said yesterday they will bolt Tuesday's convention "if the state executive committee runs rough-shod over us and the state convention unholds them."
H. J. Porter, of Houston, Texas campaign director for Eisenhower, said today's executive committee meeting is the important one. An Eisenhower bolt would mean that both the Taft and Eisenhower forces would name 38 delegates to Chicago.

Eisenhower Gains 16

Then it would be up to the national convention to decide which slate to seat, or how many from each slate to recognize.
Eisenhower moved up 16 delegates on Taft over the weekend, in the Associated Press tabulation, but still trailed. The AP count, based on delegates pledged, instructed or willing to state a first-ballot preference, and on candidate concessions, listed 339 delegates for Taft to 359 for the General. Eisenhower made his gain of 16 in Washington state, where he

Strike Ended Today For Western Union

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The 52-day Western Union strike ended today and workers flocked back to telegraph offices across the nation.
Union and company officials expected the flow of messages to return to normal quickly.

The official end of the strike came at 12:01 a. m. local time after the AFL Commercial Telegraphers Union announced that its Western Union membership had voted 8,685 to 5,468 to accept a strike settlement.
Rate Raise Pending
Pay raises or reduction of working hours provided for under the ratified agreement are dependent on government permission for Western Union to raise its rates.

Union officials said they understood the company may ask the Federal Communications Commission (FCC) for rate hikes of 10 per cent. Western Union officials have not said how much of a boost in rates they need to meet the proposed pay increases.
The union agreed to support Western Union's application for higher rates before the FCC.

The union said the new agreement would raise the average workers earnings to $1.54 an hour except for messengers. Messengers would get an average of 83 cents an hour.

Air Force Needs Civilian Plane Spotting Corps

By ELTON C. FAY
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Air Force, seriously worried over a weak link in the nation's aircraft warning system, is going to try again to get the volunteer system of civilian aircraft spotters into round-the-clock operation by July.
An attempt was made to start the full, 24-hour a day plane spotting system in 27 states on May 17, but was postponed when a number of state civil defense directors requested reconsideration of the plan.

The "ground observer corps" is intended to help the Air Force's air defense command locate and track unidentified aircraft flying too low for radar to detect. USAF officials contend that this constant, low-altitude surveillance is vital.
An officer interested in the enemy aircraft warning system cited today an incident in Alaska as an example. About six weeks ago, he said, a ground observer in Alaska (the exact location may not be disclosed) saw what appeared to be the contrail of a

Senate Squares Off For Bitter Fight On Foreign Aid Issue

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Sen. Connally (D-Tex.) told the Senate today in advocating approval of a $6,900,000 foreign aid bill that "a policy of timidity is a prelude to disaster."
As chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, Connally said the mutual security measure is probably the last major legislation he will pilot through the Senate before he retires next January. He did not elect to run again.

Argues Against Cuts
The Texas Senator argued against any further cuts in the authorization measure, trimmed by his committee one billion dollars below President Truman's request. The House has approved a $6,126,000,000 ceiling on foreign aid.
Before Connally spoke, Sen. George (D-Ga.) told a reporter he will stick by the one billion dollar reduction made by the committee on his motion, although he said he did not believe a cut to the House figure would damage the program much.

A group of Republican senators has proposed additional slashes ranging from 500 millions to one billion dollars.
Asserting that this country must be prepared to meet its Allies half way, Connally said that any failure of Congress to act decisively now "might mean that peace would slip from our grasp and the lights of civilization would go out again for a long, long time."
Backed By Candidates
He noted that three candidates for the Democratic Presidential nomination—Sens. Richard McMahon of Connecticut, Brian Ke-Russell of Georgia and Estes Ke-of all its employees to $1.73 an hour.

Under the agreement, workers who have been on a 45 hour, 20 minute work week with 48 hour pay would get no pay raise but would receive the same weekly pay for 40 hours a week. This covers about half the employees.

Workers already on a 40-hour week would get a 10-cents an hour boost. A few workers on a 35-hour week would be raised $22 a month. Bicycle messengers would get five cents more an hour.

The union agreed to modify its union shop contract under which all workers would have to join the union. Under the agreement, the workers would not have to be union members but would have to pay union dues as a service charge for the union representing them in negotiations with the employer.

Steel Dispute May Be Tossed Back To Congress By Truman

By NORMAN WALKER
WASHINGTON — (AP) — President Truman today was reported considering a new move to toss the tangled steel controversy into the lap of Congress if his seizure of the industry is ruled illegal.
The Supreme Court recessed at 12:32 p. m. (EST) today without announcing its decision in the steel seizure case. The court will meet again next Monday and perhaps the following Monday as well in an effort to clear its docket. It originally had planned to recess for the summer next week.

Murray Impatient
Philip Murray's CIO Steelworkers have expressed impatience at not getting a pay raise since their contracts expired last Jan. 1 and the union has plainly indicated it will launch a new industry-wide strike if government operation of the mills is ended by the high court.
The strategy Truman plans if the seizure is knocked out and a strike develops is said to be to continue to steer clear of using the Taft-Hartley Act's emergency provisions and again appeal to Congress—as he has done twice before—for legislation dealing with the situation.

A well-informed administration source told this reporter no final decision has been made but the new Congressional appeal probably will be the course taken if the court's ruling goes against the President.
In his appeals on April 9 and again on April 21 for Congress to pass new legislation to help deal with the problem, Truman offered no specific suggestions of just what he had in mind. He may do that next time.

Under Taft-Hartley, the President could name a fact-finding board to survey the situation. The law says this board must convene, hold hearings and submit a formal report to the White House that an emergency exists—all before the President may seek an 80-day court injunction against a continued strike.

A new appeal to Congress reportedly would claim that this process would take a minimum of a week or 10 days and the country and its defense program cannot stand a halt in steel production for that length of time.

In addition, Truman would undoubtedly renew his contention that Murray's union has waited considerably longer than the T-H law's 80-day "cooling off" period would require under an injunction.

Clapp put 11 ringleaders in solitary confinement and kept most of the other rioters in their cells. Some were released to start cleaning up the rubble.
The tear gas barrage was laid down from the prison walls after the prisoners ignored Clapp's orders to return to their cells. He refused to give in to any of the rioters' demands and wiped out the prisoners' grievance committee in addition.

The warden blamed the trouble on a group of "radicals" who, he said, were trying to take over the committee's functions. The riot developed when guards locked up four of the ringleaders.

Convicts took over the hall and ripped out a wire partition which separates it from the license factory. They smashed machinery, windows and furniture.

Stephen Roth Named Flint Circuit Judge
LANSING — (AP) — Stephen J. Roth of Flint, former attorney general, was appointed Genesee county circuit judge by Governor Williams today.

He succeeds the late Judge Clifford A. Bishop, who died last week. The position pays $13,000 a year.

Roth, 44, was attorney general in Williams' first term and was defeated for reelection. A former Genesee county prosecutor, Roth served with the Army Criminal Investigation Division in Italy during World War II. He is a graduate of Notre Dame University and the University of Michigan law school.

Three Nations Sign Pact With Former Enemy

BONN, Germany — (AP) — The Allied-West German peace contract to ally West Germany with the free world was ceremoniously signed here today by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer and the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and France.

As a silent crowd of several hundred Germans stood roped off in the rain outside the West German parliament building, the four men put their pens to the historic pact in the Bundesratsaal, the chamber of the upper house. About 500 spectators watched inside the room.

Russian Demand Ignored

The peace contract, which faces high parliamentary hurdles before ratification can make it effective, gives West Germany near sovereignty in exchange for German troops in the projected European army.

The four ministers completed the contract yesterday after long hours of negotiations to overcome 11th hour French objections.

In doing so they ignored a new Russian demand yesterday — the third in three months — for a four-power conference to write a peace treaty for a united and "completely sovereign" Germany. But observers here thought the new Russian note would strengthen the hand of powerful opponents of the peace contract in Germany, France and Britain.

Occupation Controls End

Before it takes effect, the West's contract must be ratified by the U. S. Congress and the parliament.

Troops Follow Behind A-Bomb

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — (AP) — Army troops will jump from their fox holes and move toward ground zero only a few seconds after the next atomic test blast.

It will be the first time troops have moved in so quickly, the Army said yesterday after the sixth and brightest of the Spring detonations at the Atomic Energy Commission's Nevada proving ground.

The next explosion, on a date to be announced, will involve 1,500 service troops from Camp Desert Rock near the test site.

Yesterday 1,000 combat troops and 600 military observers moved in "shortly" after the blast to observe its effect on equipment. They were stationed an estimated 7,000 yards away.

Brig. Gen. Harry P. Storke, commander of the exercise, said "although the men did not maneuver tactically into the ground zero area, they appeared confident and anxious as they moved into the display area."

The blast was not heard nor did it produce shock waves in Las Vegas, 64 miles away. But its brilliance lit up Las Vegas and dogs yelped 7½ minutes after blast. Apparently the dogs felt or heard something beyond the reach of humans.

Delaware River Scene Of Third Ship Disaster

WILMINGTON, Del. — (AP) — A tanker loaded with crude oil and a gasoline-laden barge collided in a driving rain on the Delaware River 15 miles south of here last night, both exploding into flames that sent crewmen diving into the water.

Two men were reported dead, six missing and one injured.

There were 39 survivors from the collision between the 10,441-ton tanker Michael and the 1,162-ton barge, A. C. Dodge.

Hours after the collision near Reedy Island, orange flames and thick black smoke covered the surface of the water and filled the sky over a half mile area.

The Michael drifted to the New Jersey shore and ran up on a beach. The ship had a big hole at the water line of its starboard bow. The Dodge was almost completely submerged off Augustine Beach near Fort Penn, Del. A few minor explosions were heard from the craft from time to time.

The Michael, bound for Paulsboro, N. J., from Persia with a crew of 40, reported two men missing—the third mate and a seaman.

The collision was the third such tragedy within 10 days in this busy shipping area.

Chinese Fluñg Back In Korea

SEOUL, Korea — (AP) — United Nations troops today threw back a change-of-pace assault by two reinforced Chinese companies on the Korean western front. The U. S. 8th Army said they killed or wounded more than 100 of the attacking Reds in a furious five-hour fight.

It was the first time in weeks that the Reds had struck in greater than platoon strength.

A Chinese company normally contains about 150 men. No estimate was made of the number in the reinforced companies.

In its weekly report, the U. S. Fifth Air Force said Red MIGs shot down five U. S. jets last week and Allied airmen destroyed only four MIGs.

In Washington defense authorities announced that Allied plane losses from all causes in the Korean fighting total more than 1,400. Of these 252 were U. S. jet fighters. No figure was given for the total lost in air combat.

The U. S. Air Force said 306 MIGs have been destroyed in the war.

Two Smashups Claim 7 Lives

(By The Associated Press)
Two separate highway mishaps claimed seven lives between them and contributed heavily to Michigan's weekend accidental fatality toll of 22.

Four children out for an outing in their family's new car perished in a two-car collision in Van Buren township a few miles west of Detroit. The parents, Clair Smith, 61, and his wife, Jennie, 38, of Chelsea, were injured critically. Because of their condition, doctors withheld news of their children's fate. Elroy W. Abeledt, 24, of Ypsilanti, driver of the other car, and his two passengers were injured.

Three young people drowned near Coldwater when their car struck a bridge and plunged into the Coldwater river.

Besides these and other traffic and drowning fatalities, two persons died in fires, two died of asphyxiation and a little boy was gored to death by a cow.

Ronald Fisher, 5, was the child gored to death Saturday by a milk cow at Fennville, near Allegan. The boy's father, Alvem, was only 100 feet away when he saw the cow attack the child, but before he could rescue the lad the cow had inflicted fatal internal injuries.

Ex-Mormon Accused Of Havin' 4 Wives

MESA, Ariz. — (AP) — George Merlin Dutton, excommunicated Mormon accused of having four wives, was freed on $1,500 bail yesterday pending a preliminary hearing on charges of bigamy and illegal cohabitation.

No date for his appearance in court has been set.

The husky, 47-year-old rancher was arrested Saturday. He had been sought since Dec. 31, 1951.

It was on that date that six women, all giving Dutton as their last name, were charged with "open and notorious cohabitation" with Dutton.

Charges against two of the six were later dropped, and the case against the other four was indefinitely postponed pending Dutton's apprehension.

He had been missing since Thursday. A hose led from the exhaust pipe to the trunk. Police Chief Jerry Sage said death was due to asphyxiation and that a last note was found in the car.

Red POWs Smuggle Weapons In Plot To Seize Koje Island

By WILLIAM JORDEN
KOJE ISLAND, Korea — (AP) — Red prisoners of war are forging deadly weapons in their barbed wire enclosures but Brig. Gen. Haydon L. Boatner said today the time had passed when they could have captured this island.

United Nations guard forces now could control prisoners outside the island's 17 POW compounds, the new camp commander told newly arrived combat-wise Canadian and British troops. He also said:

But inside the compounds — housing 80,000 North Korean and Chinese captives — die-hard Communists still rule.

Big Groups Split Up

About two weeks ago, the POWs could have crashed their barbed wire enclosures. They would have suffered "hundreds of casualties" but probably could have taken over the island "if they had wanted."

Each compound holds 5,000 to 6,000 prisoners. But within two weeks the Reds will be divided in groups of 500 in new, smaller compounds.

In the larger groups the Reds can't be controlled "if they don't want to be controlled," Boatner conceded.

In several riots the prisoners use axe handles, clubs, spears, barbed wire flails and other weapons.

Some camp authorities said the POWs now have pistols and rifles — seized in riots or bought from civilians.

With each compound the Reds have a well organized military system. Each enclosure is divided into a battalion, companies and platoons. Strict military discipline prevails. The Communist leaders drill their men—even hold small scale military tactics using dummy rifles or clubs for mock bayonet drill.

Gasoline Stocked Up
It also is suspected that the prisoners have stocks of gasoline useful for making homemade firebombs—known in World War II as "Molotov cocktails." Witnesses have said eight or nine large drums of gasoline were moved into compound 76 two weeks ago while its members held an American general hostage. The prisoners reportedly demanded the fuel during negotiations for release of the officer, Brig. Gen. Francis T. Dodd.

The supply of gasoline was shut off to most compounds four or five days ago. The POWs were told to use wood or coal. But one compound commander said as far as he knew the POWs under his command were still getting gasoline.

The prisoner army has demonstrated that it has an intricate communication system between compounds. An incident in one area is quickly known in compounds miles away.

Whether the Reds will submit peacefully to being divided into smaller, easier controlled groups remains to be seen.

Bell Buoy Placed At Fayette Harbor

Placing of a lighted bell buoy at the entrance to Fayette harbor is reported by the U. S. Hydrographic Office in a recent notice to mariners. It will materially aid yachtsmen and fishermen in locating the entrance during fogs and darkness.

The buoy is located 800 feet northwest of the point of the "island" or outer high ground encircling Fayette harbor, also known as Snail Shell Harbor.

The buoy is painted red, is equipped with a bell and light. The white 140-candlepower lights flashes every four seconds, going on for four-tenths of a second, and being off for 3.6 second.

Another lighted bell buoy of the same construction is located at Jackson harbor, Washington Island, to replace a light which was destroyed by shoving ice. It is located on the east side of the channel marking to the entrance to the harbor.

Need For More Blood Is Urgent

More applicants are needed to meet the quota of 200 pints of blood for American soldiers in Korea at the Red Cross blood clinic in Escanaba Tuesday and Wednesday.

Only slightly more than 100 applications were on file as of Saturday, it was reported. Anyone desiring to contribute a pint of blood is asked to phone 97 and arrange for an appointment.

The "Blood for Korea" collection will be taken from 3 to 9 p. m. Tuesday and from 11 a. m. to 5 p. m. Wednesday at the Knights of Columbus hall, First Avenue South.

Rev. Joseph Dickson appealed for contributors to the congregations of St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Escanaba and Trinity Church in Gladstone yesterday.

"Now is your chance to give your blood to help some wounded GI from Escanaba or Gladstone when he needs it on the battlefield," Rev. Dickson said. "Delta County had a poor record of blood giving last year. Our goal is 200 donors Tuesday and Wednesday. We should not fail."

All of the blood collected in this clinic will be processed for shipment to Korea and is designed to help meet an emergency.

Insurance Men End Convention

Irving Tollefson of L'Anse was elected president of the Upper Peninsula Association of Insurance Agents and Ishpeming-Negaunee was chosen as the 1953 convention site in the Saturday afternoon business session of the organization which held a two-day conference here last week.

The luncheon meeting Saturday at the Sherman Hotel closing the formal business of the group featured an address by Joseph Navarre, Michigan insurance commissioner, who paid tribute to the hospitality of the Upper Peninsula insurance agents and the vicar of the association.

Lauding the movement toward organization among insurance agents here and elsewhere, he stated that "It is good business to organize; it is found to protect the field and provide for the community good through development of outstanding citizens in the organization."

Commission Protects Field "The aim of the Michigan insurance commission," he declared, "is to protect, then, the interests of those agents so that public faith in the integrity of the insurance field is maintained."

He stated that the commission is having success in doing this because the agents are assuring good service to their clients.

Other officers elected to executive positions in the business meeting following Navarre's talk are: vice president, Albin J. Brodeur of Hancock; secretary, George E. Sivula of Negaunee; and treasurer, C. L. Smith of Manistique.

Preceding Navarre on the program was the introduction by the presiding chairman, F. Loren Rogers, of W. O. Hildebrand, secretary-manager of the Michigan Association of Insurance Agents who presented the honored officials and guests.

Laud Local Agents

Special tributes were given by him to Katherine Hoban, St. Ignace, treasurer of the U. P. Association of Insurance Agents; to Mrs. Esther Diebold of West Branch; to Art Goulais for his work in organizing the convention; and to Irving Tollefson of L'Anse; George A. Timm of Kenosha, Wis.; John Carney of Eau Claire, Wis.; John P. Olds of the Soo; Grant Moore of Port Huron; Merrill Craft of Jackson, Mich.; Howard W. Huttenlocher of Pontiac; J. C. Wickstrom of Norway; Guy M. Cox of Iron River; Carl Strong of Michigan State College; and C. Gilbert Waldo of Detroit.

The resolutions committee headed by Guy Cox presented commendations to the local agents and city fathers for their hospitality and warm spirit during the convention; to W. O. Hildebrand for his zealous leadership in the Michigan association and his participation in the successful convention; and to James T. Healy, late prominent insurance agent in the Upper Peninsula.

In the selection of the 1953 convention site, a bid from Iron Mountain as the host city was entered.

A cabaret party at the Terrace Gardens was held in the evening for the visiting delegates.

The hope of faith is a light for the path into tomorrow, and the assurance of faith is the dynamic of the soul for the tasks of today. —Sen. Richard Russell (D., Ga.).

Observe Rules Of Safety When Walleye Fishing Or Boating

THE walleye fishing season offers great fun for a large number of fishermen but it also provides some hazards, particularly to those who are unfamiliar with boats and motors.

The Outboard Boating Club of America has presented some common sense rules that are particularly pertinent now during the walleye fishing season. Here are the rules:

Know your boat. Every boat has its limitations. Learn what you can expect from your boat.

Don't overload. Seats do not indicate capacity. Two or three adults may be a full load under many circumstances.

Balance your load. Distribute weight evenly in the boat—from side to side and from bow to stern.

Keep low. And step in the center when boarding the boat or changing seats.

Watch the weather. Head for shore before a storm breaks. If caught out, seat passengers on the floor.

Head into waves. If waves are high, head your boat at an angle toward the waves at slow speed.

Use the right motor. Too much power can damage your boat—even swamp it.

Avoid sharp turns. Fast, sharp turns are hard on equipment and sometimes on people. Take it easy.

These are the rules laid down by the Outboard Motor Club but there are a few more that are applicable. One important rule is never to stand in a rowboat. Another good rule is to remain in the vicinity of other boats, particularly if you are a long way from shore or if there is an offshore wind blowing.

Boating and fishing are good sports and safe sports, too, for those who use common sense and practice the rules of safety.

Senate May Deny H Use Sneak Tax Plan

REPORTS from the Senate indicate the new House-approved proposal to give members of Congress special tax exemptions may get a couple of sidelong glances before passage. That's more than the thing got in the House.

It may well be true that members' salaries have not kept pace with rising living costs. It may also be true that they have a problem in trying to maintain two residences, one in Washington and one back home.

If these things are so, why be afraid to discuss it? Why not draft legislation to increase salaries, or to renew and possibly expand the $2500 expense allowance due to expire next year?

Instead of sailing into the problem openly, the House executed a sneak attack. A plan was drafted that would allow members to deduct for tax purposes all their Washington living costs, including rent, plus travel charges to and from their home states.

But this measure never was submitted to a formal House committee for study, or to any other group. This no witnesses spoke for or against it. Nor was there ever a moment's debate on the House floor.

The proposal was tacked on as an amendment to another bill. This was done by a quick voice vote, with no members being formally recorded as to their stand. Anyone who has ever watched the House amend or pass bills in this fashion knows it can be accomplished so fast that few in the chamber are aware of the action except those engineering it.

It's pretty clear why the House resorted to legislative sleight of hand. The members undoubtedly feel they might be embarrassed to discuss increasing salaries and expense accounts in an election year when they're busy hollering economy.

The distinguished gentlemen of the House could hardly have been more foolish, since they ought to have realized that a tactic like that, once discovered, usually backfires loudly.

These are the men, remember, who constantly chide the government for being too secretive, for not telling the American public what it is doing.

And here they are snapping through a bill that would, in the judgment of some tax experts, permit them virtually to charge off their full government salary by making it tax free.

A great many members of Congress live 10 months a year in Washington, and some have had a lifetime of service there. There might be more sense in giving them an allowance or pay boost to defray some of their costs back home, since these probably would be smaller in most cases. Strictly speaking, it is this residence and not the Washington home that is the extra establishment.

The current proposal, as a matter of fact, includes a rental allotment for home-town office space. Yet it is difficult to argue that this should be granted in addition to tax exemptions for all Washington expenses.

The senators who now have this problem in their laps ought to think hard before making themselves party to the House's deception. Where money matters are concerned, voters often have long memories.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—The pact for a European army which the foreign ministers will initial is not a lengthy document. It is quite short. But behind its written pages are thousands of unwritten chapters recording the hopes of the future, the history of the past, and the hurdles in the path of peace.

Historically, it marks the climax of 300 years of warfare, back and forth across the Rhine, back and forth between the French and German armies, back and forth—until the wheat fields and the forests were tangled with barbed wire and drenched with blood.

So this pact, putting the armies of two bitter enemies—France and Germany—under one flag and in one uniform, could be the most significant milestone for peace the world has ever seen. To those whose sons have gone forth to war year after year, to those who are so weary of war they are suspicious even of us, it could be the millennium.

But because it does carry the hopes of millions, and because the goals of the Kremlin do not flourish in the soil of peace, the European army pact faces terrific hurdles. Moscow is determined that this pact never shall go into full force. So the signing will mark the beginning of the greatest war of nerves since V-E day.

JEERS FOR RIDGWAY

Even before the ceremony, Moscow has been martailing its forces to scare Western Europe out of this momentous agreement. Here are the moves which will come to a climax in the immediate or near future:

1. General Matthew Ridgway's arrival will touch off a vociferous anti-American demonstration. He will be branded the butcher of Korea, held responsible for the highly exaggerated prisoner troubles in Korea, and accused as a user of germ warfare. Communist propaganda regarding germ warfare has been so successful that about half the people of Europe really believe it.

As a result, some of our best friends believe Ridgway's appointment to Paris was a mistake.

2. Soviet rearmament of East Germany is increasing. This is probably a psychological move made to worry the French and scare the West Germans away from the European army pact.

SEIZE BERLIN

3. There's been a heavy Russian buildup around Berlin. Simultaneously Communist civilians are reported planning to flock into West Berlin, stage riots, and give an excuse to Communist troops to enter the city. This time, it's reported, the Russians plan to seize both Berlin airports, thus making it impossible for us to repeat the airlift. In such event, Berlin would be starved out and have to capitulate. The alternative would be war.

4. European inflation is on the increase and is our second worst enemy. Some people claim it is even enemy No. 1. For, with prices high and wages low, inflation makes for Communism. Communist parliament members in France and Italy are endeavoring to create as much economic instability as possible in order to increase inflation.

Inflation has brought substantial business to a standstill throughout Western Europe, and this will be increased if there is any substantial cut in U. S. aid to Europe.

5. Ratification of the united army pact is uncertain, and will be made more so by the above events. This is Moscow's real goal—namely, to discourage, frighten, disillusion the peoples of France and Germany to such extent that their parliaments refuse to ratify the historic pact.

WILL HISTORY REPEAT?

On the other hand, it remains a fact that a pact providing for a United European army, putting French and German troops under one uniform, is to be initiated. This could end 300 years of bloodshed. And this is more important than all the tricks Moscow is pulling out of the bag to block it.

Twenty-four years ago I was present in the Salon d'Horloge at the signing of the famed Kellogg-Briand pact. The August sun spread its slanting rays over the Seine, penetrated the deep-curtained windows of the Quai d'Orsay and danced among the great crystal candelabra of Louis XVI as Europe's statesmen scratched their names on the parchment outlawing war supposedly forever.

Into The Past

10 YEARS AGO

Chicago—The National Association of Manufacturers made public a report designed to refute any charges of industry "profiteering" on war contracts.

Moscow—The Germans launched a surprise blitz attack on the Barvenkova front south of Kharkov with 1150 tanks spearheading the assault under a phalanx of Nazi planes.

Cleveland—The steamer Harry Coulby set a new Great Lakes cargo record arriving at South Chicago with 16,399 gross tons of iron ore.

Escanaba—First Lieutenant James J. Kraus, son of Mrs. Oscar Kraus, was reported missing in action by the War Department after the Japanese overran that part of the Philippine Islands on which he was stationed.

Escanaba—Construction of two ore docks at Escanaba to facilitate the movement of iron ore from the mines to furnaces during the war-time emergency was proposed by Rep. Fred Bradley of this district to high officials in Washington.

20 YEARS AGO

Washington, D. C.—Senate Democrats pushed their $2,300,000,000 unemployment relief bill forward despite President Hoover's emphatic opposition to its provision for a $500 million public works bond issue.

Escanaba—William Labre was elected editor-in-chief of the 1932-33 Escanaba, the student publication of the Escanaba High School.

Escanaba—M. S. Maisack, Dr. G. A. Cotton and Emil Dittich returned from Marquette where they attended the course on golf club management sponsored by the extension department of Michigan State College.

Everybody In Town Wins As Plan To End Parking Problem Pays Off

By RICHARD KLEINER

NEA Staff Correspondent

ALLENTOWN, Pa. (NEA)—Out in this eastern Pennsylvania city, they've put the hoop-de-do in a box. Actually, the box is a game called "Park & Shop," but it's really a gay way of popularizing the city's solution to its parking problem.

Park & Shop (the game) is modeled after Park & Shop (the actual parking plan). Both are clever, and both are easy to operate. And behind both is the dynamic, cigar-chewing general manager of Allentown's Call-Chronicle newspapers, Donald P. Miller.

In 1944, Miller began thinking about parking. His city, like most in America, had too many cars for the parking space available. There was danger of business moving out to the suburbs. Out of his research, persuasiveness and eight years of work came a master plan which today makes it cheap and easy to park in the heart of Allentown's business area.

There are three types of parkers, and three types of parking facilities, in Allentown. For the all-day parker, the Allentown Parking Authority runs lots on the fringe of the shopping district, but still within easy walking distance. These are metered, and it costs 25 cents a day, or $5 a month or $50 a year—to keep your car there.

For the short-stopper, the streets are metered. But there's an intermediate group, and a large one, that is virtually ignored in many cities. That's the motorist who plans to spend a few hours downtown on a variety of shopping and business errands.

These people are considered in Miller's Park & Shop plan. The city's merchants banded together, bought land in the center of the city, and began operating privately-owned Park & Shop lots. As their ads say, it's as easy as one-two-three.

You pull into a Park & Shop lot, one of 10 in the business area. They're easily identified by big blue signs. You give the operator—who leases the lot from Park & Shop, Inc.—a quarter, and he gives you a ticket. Your fee entitles you to park for two hours.

Secondly, you go shopping. In any of the Park & Shop member stores—and the 72 stores represented nearly all Allentown merchants—you make your purchase. If it is over one dollar, the merchant stamps your ticket.

When you pick up your car, you give the lot operator the stamped ticket and he gives you back your quarter. You've parked for free.

Every week, the lot operator sends his stamped tickets in to Park & Shop headquarters, and gets 18 cents for each one. Park & Shop then turns around and

So They Say

If the current trend of increased feminine participation in politics continues, we can look forward to a woman president.—Anthropologist Micha Titiev.

Abiding peace can only come when there is a mobilization of the deeper moral and spiritual forces throughout the world.—W. Averell Harriman, Mutual Security Administrator.

We need a new zeal for virtue. We need to have our national life reflect more of the energy, the imagination and the bright idealism of our fine American youth.—Sen. Estes Kefauver (D, Tenn.).

I do not think the public should be forced to guess or conjecture as to whether a man is a Communist. I think the public is entitled to know.—Movie producer Howard Hughes.

True beauty is best judged in everyday clothes and everyday settings.—Beauty expert Harry Conover.

I think they (political gangsters) are worse than Communists, and I think they are partners with them.—President Harry S. Truman.

The peoples of the Iron Curtain countries are stronger than the West only in their unity. We must find that unity.—Gen. Dwight Eisenhower.

I am delighted to serve with him. (General Ridgway). There will be no strain on the relationship at all.—NATO Chief of Staff Gen. Albert Gruenther.

charges the merchant who validated the ticket 20 cents. The merchant, in the end, pays for your parking. But he's happy, because now you're shopping in town more often.

The plan, which began operating on a small scale in 1947, is now a big-time operation. Park & Shop, Inc., is a million-dollar corporation. They've built a modern structure at one busy corner with parking space on the roof and stores on the ground level. They're paying dividends on their stock this year. They're busily planning new, bigger lots.

The Park & Shop game is the brainchild of B. Campe Ewer, an artist on the staff of Miller's newspapers. You play on a board which has a colorful diagram that's an almost exact duplicate of the Allentown shopping district.

The aim of the game is to go shopping and go home. You're dealt cards, which make up your shopping list. You have a little colored card and move from the starting point to a Park & Shop lot. Then you do your shopping (moving a pedestrian figure of matching color), go back to the lot, pick up your car and drive home.

The stores correspond almost directly to the real Allentown stores, although they're not named. The lots are located almost exactly where they're located in full-size Allentown. And there are penalty and bonus cards to imitate the unexpected incidents of a real shopping trip.

Although it's been incorporated and is a definite profit-making enterprise, the game has the secondary aim of driving home one message: It's faster to park in a lot and walk to the store. To emphasize this, you only roll one die while you're in your car, but two while you're a pedestrian.

"The game," says Miller, "adds the color and hey-de-do." On "Park & Shop Day"—the day when the game was introduced—Allentown's schools closed, its merchants ran big sales, and the Park & Shop game was played in store windows up and down Hamilton Street, the main thoroughfare. The city was flooded with shoppers.

But there was plenty of room to park.

THE GAME HUNTERS—There have always been a certain number of the faithful who, gun in hand, trek to the Escanaba garbage dump west of the city to shoot rats at all seasons of the year.

Recently, however, the sport has caught the fancy of more young men and the shooting there has taken on the aspects of a rough on rats campaign. Perhaps the sport has become more popular with the increasing number of rats at the dumping ground, since the city has not conducted a poison campaign in several years.

Fathers and their sons also go there for a bit of shooting, but one of the strangest teams on a recent rat hunting trip was a young man—and his girl friend.

He was quite sure she would enjoy the sport. But the sight and sound of the squealing rodents, the odors of decaying garbage, and the vicious crack of the rifle only sickened her.

The young man couldn't understand her silence and he is still wondering what happened to cool his romance. After all, it was a nice moonlight night at the dump.

ENEMY OF MAN—Perhaps the young lady might have better understood the rat-killing instinct of the young man if she realized that the common brown rat is man's worst enemy.

Rats are rated terrible pests. They destroy stored grain, poultry, fruits, vegetables, eggs, and other food products.

The loss in the United States due to rats has been established at $189,000,000 per year. Rats can even damage buildings—their sharp teeth can gnaw through wood, plaster, or soft metal such as lead.

NOT NATIVE AMERICANS—The black rat, not common to most sections of the United States, and the common brown rat such as the boys shoot at the Escanaba garbage dumping ground, are not native to this continent.

The black rat came to the United States in ships with the first settlers. Because it prefers warmer climate it is now found in a southern seaport cities.

The brown rat, which came later, also by ship from Europe, is larger and harder than the black rat and will now be found in every section of the United States—where man is. They will not exist in any number, and in fact are seldom found, where they cannot prey upon man.

The brown and the black rats do not mix. In fact the bigger brown rat will drive the smaller black one out. The brown rat likes to live in basements and even in the ground, as it does at the city dump; while the black rat will move into a building and work its way clear up to the roof.

SHOT, SHELL AND POISON—Man has fought constantly against rats for ages. They have been enemies since time began. The rat breeds several times a year, multiplies rapidly, and his total number is in the billions. There are six to 22 rats in a litter—which is a lot of rats.

Besides destroying and damaging property, the rat has a bad reputation as a carrier of bubonic plague, a disease that has wiped out man by the millions.

Man has fought the rat with every device at his command, including poison bait, poison gas, shot and shell, club and trap. To this day in seaport cities the war continues against rats either entering or leaving ships.

THE BREEDING GROUND—Rats cannot live without food, and man supplies the food they need to exist and to multiply. Uncovered garbage and dumping grounds are feeding places for the rats. The city's garbage dumping ground, covering several acres, is a natural shelter and food center for rats.

Periodically the city conducts rat-rid-dance campaigns, distributing rat poison about the alleys and at the city dump. This method is more or less effective and does help keep the rat population under control.

Authorities advise, however, against garbage dumps and in the interest of rat eradication Escanaba's present method of garbage disposal would have to be changed to meet modern standards for rat control. Which would leave the rat-shooters with no place to practice their sport.

STELLAR ATTRACTIONS

Everyone knows that the sign "Stellar Attractions" before a place of entertainment is intended to mean that the entertainers are unusually fine, that, in fact, they consist of stars. And that is just what "stellar" means, consisting of stars. It is from Latin "stella," a star. The girl's name, Stella, means "star." "Constellation" (CON-stuh-LAY-shun) means a group of stars.

But most of our "star" words are of Greek origin. Our flower, the aster, has its name without change from the Greek word for star; "astral" (ASS-trul) means starlike. And the curious little printing sign, (*), has the name "asterisk" (ASS-tur-isk) because of its starlike shape.

Thus our word "astronomy" (uh-STRON-uh-mi) means the laws of the stars, from Greek "aster" and "nomos," law. (Though the most advanced astronomers of ancient times were the Egyptians, our words in the field of astronomy come from the Greek scholars who studied under Egyptian sages.)

"Astrology" (uh-STROL-uh-ji), although anciently meaning the science of the stars, from "logos," science, has less authoritative standing now than at one time. Astrology was formerly, and is still by some people, believed to concern itself with the influence of the stars and planets upon man's affairs. It was this science that brought about the world "disaster" (di-ZAS-tur). The English equal of the word is "ill-starred," with "dis-" the equal of "ill." That which caused disaster or was disastrous (di-ZAS-trus) was the result of action performed under an unfavorable aspect of the stars.

The world is growing worse, according to reformers. In other words, there are more and more reformers.

The Doctor Says... Psychiatric Treatment Proper In Some Cases of Overweight

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

This column is started with a quotation from a rather extraordinary letter received from a reader. She says:

"I have always had trouble keeping my weight down, and lately have been taking pills that help to kill the appetite. After some time I consulted a doctor because of some menstrual disturbances. He told me I was all right and advised no treatment, but told me I should consult a psychiatrist."

"Of course, I refused, and felt downright insulted, so that I forgot to tell him that I had been taking pills. Do you think that these pills could dry up a person's blood?"

This is the kind of story which irritates doctors no end. Here is a reader who, without advice, took drugs when she could not know whether they would have any harmful effects or not—though whether they would "dry up a person's blood" is extremely doubtful.

Then, when she went to the doctor who found no physical condition responsible, she did not tell him the whole story and was insulted when he recommended that she consult a psychiatrist.

It is quite well known that many persons suffering from overweight may have some mental cause which is at least partly responsible. If the doctor she consulted felt that a psychiatrist might be able to help her in her problems, including that of overweight, she should certainly not be insulted, but realize that he is only giving the best advice he can.

People who are trying to lose weight often fool themselves by sticking strictly to their diet most of the time but eating between meals. They say to themselves, "I just won't count this."

Also, many people say that they eat practically nothing at all. What they mean is that they eat a small breakfast and small lunch, but at dinner—oh boy! Under these circumstances no wonder they do not lose as they think they ought to.

EAT FEW FATS

Now the foods which can be turned into human fats, such as fat meat, butter, vegetable fat, such as fat meat, butter or margarine, and the starches or carbohydrate foods which include grains, grain cereals, sugar and potatoes.

Foods such as these can be cut out of the diet or at least taken in small quantities. They can be replaced with lean meat, fish, fowl, vegetables and fruits which are not too sweet. This is what is called a high protein, low starch and fat diet.

AERIAL PHOTO-DIAGRAM of downtown Allentown, Pa., shows parking lots (solid white) in city's "Park & Shop" plan that took the headache out of parking. Business area embraced by the system is enclosed by broken line, which were also used as pattern for the "Park & Shop" game.

Presbyterian Church Marriage Law Revised

By GEORGE CORNELL
NEW YORK—(AP)—The Presbyterian church in the U.S.A. has thrown out a part of its church law saying its ministers may marry a divorced person only after a year has elapsed since the divorce.

The change, given final approval by the 250,000-member church's top governing body, also strikes out a phrase specifying that ministers "may marry the innocent party" to a divorce.

No restriction concerning remarriage of the "guilty" or "innocent" party is contained in the newly substituted section of the church's "directory of worship."

It specifies only that the minister, before remarrying a divorced person, "shall ascertain whether there is penitence for past sin and failure, and intention to enter, with the help of God, and through his church" into a lasting marriage of "love, honor, forbearance and loyalty."

Debated For Years
The action culminated several years of debate over the church's marriage and divorce policies.

Endorsed during the past year by a majority of the church's 259 local presbyteries, the revision got final approval by the church's 164th annual general assembly.

More than 2,000 Presbyterian leaders are here for the week-long meeting, which also adopted an extensive program of "cooperative activity" with the two other major Presbyterian branches—the 700,000-member Presbyterian church in the U. S., and the 300,000-member United Presbyterian church.

The action, cited as a forerunner to a "plan of union," calls for liaison between the three churches in fields of evangelism, stewardship, pulpit exchange, the chaplaincy and in locating new churches.

A common hymn book for the three branches is being prepared.

Merger Prepared
Dr. Ralph W. Lloyd, president of Maryville College, Maryville, Tenn., and head of an inter-church relations commission, said the plan is "more far-reaching than anything we have had before."

He said a plan for merger of the three bodies is expected to be ready for submission to general assemblies of the three bodies next year.

While adopting a new directive liberalizing the church's remarriage policies, the assembly dropped another proposal, which would have set up a council in each local Presbytery to pass on requested remarriages.

This proposal, which also would have revived the requirement that a year elapse before a divorced person could be remarried in the church, was set aside after it was reported 121 Presbyteries opposed it.

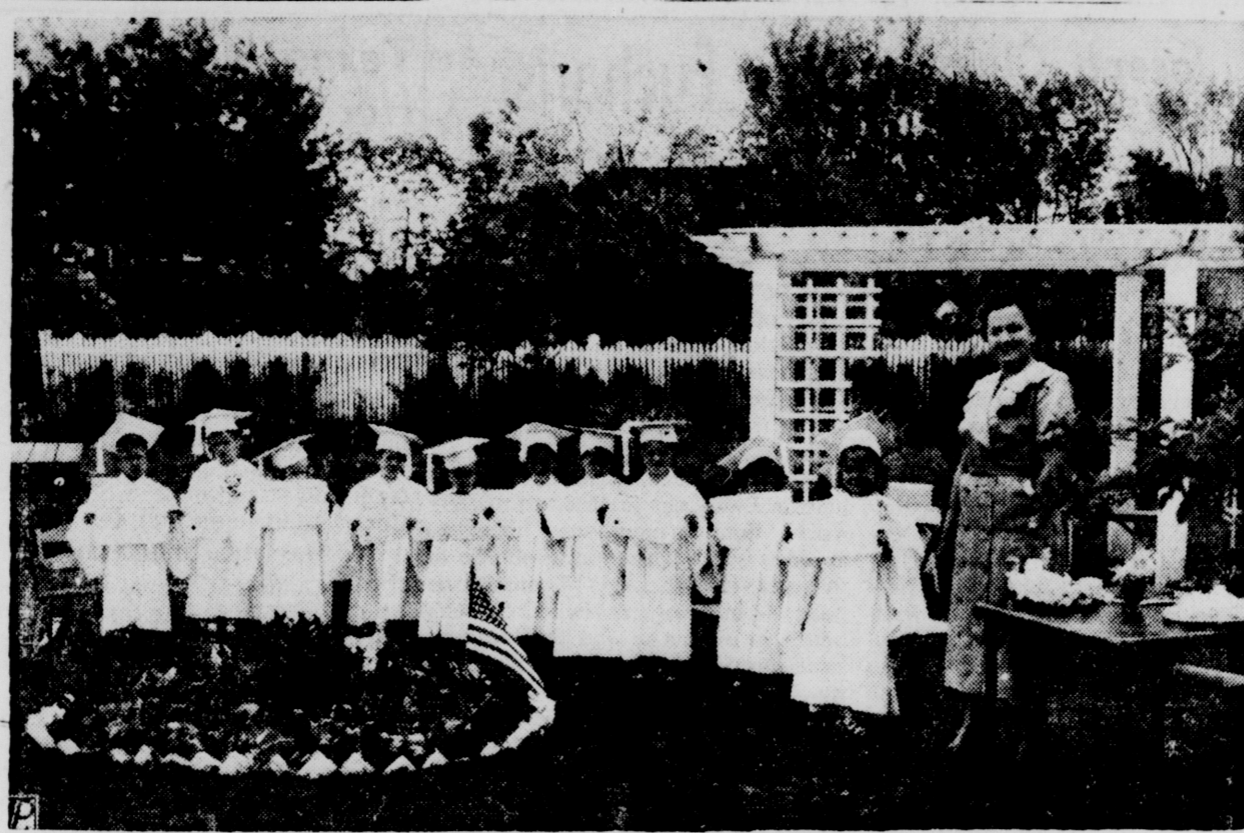

Tells of Persecution
Only 90 voted for it. A majority of 130 would have been required before the proposal could go before the assembly for final action.

A total of 158 Presbyteries had endorsed the new change eliminating the one-year divorce requirement, while 58 had opposed it.

The assembly also heard Henry L. McCorkle, of Philadelphia, declare that Protestants in Colombia, South America, are in "the midst of terrible trouble" because of Catholic persecution.

Reporting on a tour of Colombia he said at least 2,000 cases of individual persecutions of Protestants had been substantiated in the past six months.

Lingerie Raids New Insanity

By ROBERT C. RUARK
NEW YORK—I have been painfully riffling the files of memory to see if it is possible to dredge up some record of mass adolescent insanity comparable to the recent lingerie raids committed by what seems most of the students on most campuses, and can't remember very much to match.

There was a thing about goldfish-eating by candidates for evenual distinction a while back, but it was not so clearly in the spirit of riot as in the spirit of individual foolishness. The college man is an odd beast, half-boy, half-man, and subject to crazes, but this wholesale onslaught on the brassiers and pants of coeds seems oddly freudian, apart from the impetus of spring.

When I was a fuzz-faced young'un in the throes of education, we did display the odd bit of fluffy ruffle in the souvenir drawer as a boastful memento of what we hoped would be credited as wicked accomplishment. I would bet today that 90 percent of these alleged trophies of the chase were either filched from female relatives or bought in the 10-cent store, because as young bucks talked a great game while realizing it was merely braggadocio, unfounded in lecherous fact.

"Thou Shalt Not Pass"

But I do not recall us storming the coed shack at Chapel Hill, because the shack was an impenetrable fortress reigned over by an adamant lady whose name eludes me. I would have rather faced a platoon of wounded tigers than have dared to scale the steps that led from first to second floor, where the girls hung out their washings. This shows we were not advanced in those days. We still had some vestigial respect for south'n womanhood, huh.

You cannot but believe that youth is much the same in any generation, and all youth goes a little berserk in the spring. On one such spring night, when the moon was milky and the flowers were blooming in the arboretum, a bunch of us callow oafs drove a flivver all the way from Chapel Hill, N. C., to Montreal, Canada, because it was just too nice out to go to bed that week.

But this mass preoccupation with ladies' intimate apparel would lead me to believe that there has been too much emphasis on the secondary sexual characteristics of the female through our advertising media for some years now. We have made a fetish of the chest and a symbol of silken legs.

From Youth to Manhood
The legs of Miss Grable and Miss Dietrich have nearly replaced baseball and the hot dog, and the plunging neckline and the uplift brassiere have occupied more printed space and aimless conversation than is merited by the presence of normal physiological features that have been synonymous with womanhood since God made the first one.

The crowning emphasis on ladies' bosoms was supplied for a couple of years by the television industry, whose patron saint is Dagmar, and whose reason for existence for quite a while was based on just how deep a lady dared dip her neckline. This TV phase has passed, for the most part, but I dare say the memory lingers nostalgically in the juvenile mind.

When one has passed the signposts that point from youth to manhood, it is difficult to recall the inchoate stirrings in the adolescent breast. For instance, I generally remember me as a sedate young man, who spent most of his time studying, reading improving literature, and thinking advanced thoughts about the state of the nation and the world. I may have dipped a little nourishing Orange County corn on Saturday nights, but do not recall any real riots I was mixed up in except accidentally.

Come to think of it, some hoodlums with whom I associated stole a beach umbrella and a marble-topped table from the Carolina Inn and a bench to match from President Frank Graham, and a fine, antique counter from a country store, which made a beautiful barroom ensemble for the Phi Kappa Sigma cellar. I often wonder what became of those vandals. Probably all wound up in jail, or writing columns.

A Creed For Free Enterprise

By Clarence B. Randall

Industry Needs to Know More About Age Problems In Working Out Policies on Retirement

(This is the eleventh of twelve articles based on a forthcoming Atlantic Monthly Press - Little, Brown & Co. book, "A Creed for Free Enterprise," by Clarence B. Randall, president of Inland Steel Co.)

XI—Retirement
It is always high adventure for me when I am privileged to stand in the pilot house of a great steamer plying in the iron ore trade on the Great Lakes, with the blue sky above and the blue of Lake Superior all around, and to watch silently the skillful manipulation of the vessel. It is the job of the wheelman to keep her on her course, and he does that not only by watching the compass and looking ahead but by an occasional look over his shoulder to see what her wake is like, the trail left in the water by her rudder and propeller.

It is like that with a business life. As a man comes toward the end of his active participation in the affairs of industry, it is fitting that he should pause for a look over his shoulder at his own wake. He will have come through many storms and some spells of good sailing, and it is proper that he should ask himself what the throb of his propeller has been like, and what the angle of his rudder.

Shifts in Careers

I suppose that one of the first thoughts that occurs to an older man as he takes this look over his shoulder is to marvel at how little his life has resembled the plan that he so carefully formed during senior year in college or when he took his first job. For myself, I happen to be doing nothing for which I was trained, certainly nothing that I had planned or even dreamed about when in college, and yet no one could be happier in his vocation. Isn't it more often that way than not? Just at random I think of a mining engineer who sold automobile batteries, an apothecary who became president of a mining company, and an accountant who managed industrial relations for a large corporation.

The businessman at the senior level looking back will sense that life has brought him many deep satisfactions. There may be a new product he designed which has given comfort or pleasure to many people, or a new plant which he has built which has brought new prosperity to an undeveloped area, or men whom he has promoted who have abundantly established the wisdom of his choice, or an idea which he has expressed forcibly which has had wide acceptance and contributed to the advance of sound business thinking.

And conscious of his own limitations he comes to ponder on the generic limitations of the management group as a whole. Just as the captain of a lake freighter sees other ships on the horizon that seem to be slightly off course, and wonders whether he is right, or they, so the senior business man looks at his contemporaries.

Test of Leadership
One of the weaknesses that distresses me is the unwillingness of some executives to have an opinion of their own on a new problem until they know what some one similarly placed in another company thinks about it. This is not leadership. A man must be a broadcasting station and not just a receiving set. But it is hard to resist the impulse to grab the telephone and ask what some other fellow did before making up one's own mind about the right or wrong of the proposal. Often that other man is himself the same sort of mental and moral procrastinator, and the opinion he gives may have been likewise arrived at by his having grabbed the telephone to call still another. And so it comes to pass that if the first man who had to face up to the question chose the wrong course, his error will be magnified many times until the error becomes policy for an entire industry.

Genuine delegation of authority is another area of administration where it is difficult to make practice conform to theory. Every student of business, every professional in the field of management engineering, in fact every business man of mature experience knows that the secret of effective organization lies in the wise distribution of duties among many, their work being guided and co-ordinated by a supervisor who refrains from performing the tasks himself, and that this is delegation of authority. Most of us seniors labor under the delusion that we do this well, but I am afraid that we are often mistaken.

Delegation of Authority

There is one final test, however, in my opinion by which it can be determined whether an executive is objective and consistent in the practice of delegating authority, and that is this. If he can turn a job over to a junior and then support him in carrying it out in a manner quite different from that which he himself would have chosen, then he understands.

One experience transcends all others, testing to the full whether the wake has been straight and the course based on accurate bearings, testing whether the individual has fully established a scale of values in his life, and calling for high courage as well as clarity of thought. That experience is retirement.

What a welter of contrary thinking is to be found today on this delicate but important subject, not only among business men, but among economists, students of the theory of administration, psychologists and sociologists. Clearly we must know much more about it, and continue the debate much further before general agreement can emerge as to what is right, but it is something each of us older men ought to swim into, instead of just drifting.

Retirement a Problem

Among junior executives at about the age of forty there is ever any doubt but that there should be compulsory and complete retirement for older men at not later than the age of sixty-five. The doubts come to those who have passed sixty, and the subtle self-hypnosis of indispensability seems to be associated with thinning hair, bifocals, dentures, and longer belts. It is the occupational disease of seniors.

I am convinced that for purposes of sound administration there must be a fixed age limit with compulsory retirement from active day-to-day responsibility, as distinguished from wisdom duties such as membership on a board of directors.

I will try to explain why in a moment, but first let me set the age. For the wisdom jobs I would make it seventy; for the deciding jobs sixty-five.

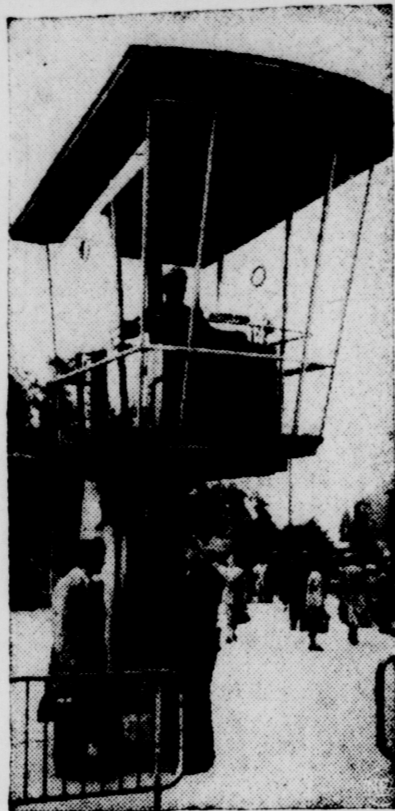

As to either category, I recognize that medical science is rapidly expanding the useful span of life, and that experience might permit either of those limits to be lifted somewhat, but I do not believe that time has yet come. I think the Congress was right when it established sixty-five as the dividing line under Social Security, and can well understand why the armed forces place it lower.

Task of Decision

The task of an administrator is to decide, and the well-being of a large company in every phase of the business depends upon the crispness as well as the soundness of the decisions taken at each level. It isn't enough that they be wise; they must be forthright, prompt, and well-timed.

Those are the attributes of youth, and each year as we pass middle life we possess them in lesser degree. Battles are won by generals in their forties, and most great surges of industrial expansion are conceived and carried through by men not yet fifty. For a time the older man merits responsibility because his growing wisdom, born of longer experience offsets his diminishing audacity, but there comes a time when there is danger that his inertia with respect to decisions and the slower tempo of his mental processes will make him a bad risk in a deciding job.

On the law of averages as I have observed men in the middle-sixties, I still place the danger zone at age sixty-five. Because there is a risk, it is the duty of management to deal with it conservatively, ly, and doubts on a subject such as this should be resolved in favor of the company instead of the individual.

But since all men are different, and individual characteristics vary widely in later years, why should not retirement be handled selectively, keeping those who are in their prime and releasing only those as to whom there is doubt? This is a plausible suggestion, often urged by those who have a particular man in mind who looks for all the world as good at sixty-five as he did at fifty. There are many such.

Confidentially, I hope to be one myself.

Horizon Club Girls Attend Convocation

Twenty-eight members of the Horizon Club of Escanaba Senior high school traveled to Sault Ste. Marie Saturday to attend a convocation of Horizon Club girls from Escanaba, Negaunee and Sault Ste. Marie.

The conference began at 11 a. m., with registration at the Central Methodist church. At noon, the Sault Horizon Club served a pot luck luncheon. The guest speaker, Mrs. Donnell Howe Jr., entitled her speech, "Accepting Our Role as a Girl."

The group broke up into four discussion groups, "Family Life," "Money Problems," "Developing Personality," and "Social Behavior." A girl was selected from each group to present the findings at the banquet that evening.

Beginning at 3:30, the girls had a choice of three sightseeing tours, the Sault Locks, a trip into Canada, and a trip to scenic spots in Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Group singing, skits by the Sault Horizon Club, and movies of Clear Lake and other summer camps were enjoyed at the 6:30 banquet. Karen Guck, a sophomore in Sault high school, was the general chairman for the conference.

Chaperoning the Escanaba girls were Mrs. Lowell Farrell and Mrs. Warren Johnston.

AS WE LIVE

Elderly Mother Complains Of Wedded Sons' Neglect

By Elizabeth B. Hurlock, Ph.D.

Grown children, after they marry and go to homes of their own, sometimes become so preoccupied with their own interests that they forget and neglect an aging parent. The parent, after sacrificing the best years of her life for her children, is entitled to better treatment than that. How to get it is the problem that is facing the widow who wrote:

(Q) "I have two sons. Both are married, own their homes, have cars, radios, TVs, etc. They both have children. I am living all alone and working. My one son calls me every day but the only time I hear from my other son is when he comes with a gift at Christmas and takes my gifts to the family. He never even calls me to say 'Hello' on my birthday or Mother's Day. I am lonely but I can't bring myself to push in. My one son has plenty of time to visit friends, take trips, go to a cottage in summer, but he never, never thinks of seeing if I need help or want to go anywhere. He sees his wife's people but has no time for me. How can I bring him to his senses?"

(A) My suggestion is that you invite your two sons and their wives to your home for a Sunday dinner or for dinner some evening. Arrange for a time when all four of them can be present together. Give them no clue as to what you have in mind. Merely treat it as a pleasant family get-together. Arrange to have your two sons' favorite foods, have flowers around to give a festive atmosphere to the place, and wear your most becoming dress. All through the meal be gay and cheerful. The important thing is to get them in a good frame of mind for the blow that is coming. Then, as soon as dinner is over, tell them you want to talk seriously to them. Have all your facts and figures down on paper to read out to them. Tell them just how much you earn, and how much other income you have. List your usual expenses, and then add others that might come in the emergency class, such as a warm winter coat, dentist bills, doctor bills, etc.

Ask all four of them if they think they have been treating you fairly by doing nothing to help you and by never bothering to come to see you. Ask them how they would feel if, at your age, their children never called them up from one Christmas to another. Then see if this is not an eye-opener to make them realize how selfish they have been and to take steps at once to mend their ways.

If you have a personal problem, write Elizabeth Hurlock in care of this newspaper.

Escanaba Deanery Meeting Held At Manistique Sat'y

The Escanaba Deanery of the Marquette Diocese Council of Catholic Women held its spring meeting Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m., at St. Francis de Sales school in Manistique. The general meeting was preceded by a board meeting.

The meeting opened with a prayer to Our Lady of Good Counsel. Mrs. Stanley Venne, president of the Escanaba deanery, introduced Rev. Father George Pernaski, assistant pastor of St. Francis de Sales church who spoke on the subject of Mary, the Blessed Mother of God.

Father Pernaski spoke of the many devotions to Our Lady. He mentioned the fact that several countries have their own particular devotion to Mary. The United States is dedicated to Mary, the Immaculate Conception; France to Our Lady of Lourdes, while the Mexican people have Our Lady of Guadalupe as their patron. He also told of Our Lady of Czestochowa (Chesto Kova) who appeared to John Sobieski in Warsaw as he left for war against the Turks. She gave him a prayer for his men to say in battle for protection. This talk was most enlightening, in that it touched on another visitation of Our Lady and another devotion in her honor.

Mrs. Venne gave a brief report on the accomplishments of the various departments of the Deanery and the recommendations of the board as to changes and improvements in the functions of the organization.

This was followed with a talk by Sister Mary Hester of Mount Mary College, Milwaukee. In speaking to the Escanaba deanery, Sister Mary Hester, a niece of Mrs. H. J. Defnet of this city, recalled her early childhood in Escanaba. She remarked that those who live in smaller communities are quite complacent as they live their daily lives, because they are so completely untouched by racial or religious prejudice.

However, this is not so in larger cities, she said. She gave many examples of situations existing today to threaten the American way of life and cautioned the women to be on the alert to this dangerous trend. Sister Mary Hester said that to be true soldiers of Christ, Catholics must gain in wisdom, and this can only be accomplished by stimulating their minds with good Catholic literature, and by living as true Christians.

"True Christians are judged by their deeds, rather than their words," she said.

Following this inspiring talk, the group assembled in various classrooms to meet with the Deanery chairmen to discuss the work of each group.

The ladies of St. Ann's Altar Society of St. Francis de Sales church served tea at the close of the workshop sessions. The tea table was centered with a Maypole, surrounded with small flat floral arrangements of apple blossoms, extending the length of the table. Silver candelabra holding pink candles completed the artistic effect. Mrs. Carl Makel headed the hostess committee in charge of arrangements for the day.

Council Meets Tuesday Night

A regular meeting of the Manistique City Council scheduled for tonight has been postponed until tomorrow night because of the Chamber of Commerce banquet this evening at the Elks Temple. It is announced by H. W. Heideman, city manager.

The session will get underway at 7:30 at City Hall.

Copies of the 1952 tentative budget will be presented to council members for study by the city manager. The final budget, it is expected will be adopted at the following council session.

Delay in preparing tentative figures this year was caused by city-union negotiations over a new wage contract, Heideman said.

C-C SPEAKER—Howard Billings, of Iron River, president of the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau, will be the principal speaker at the meeting of the Top O' Lake Chamber of Commerce at the Manistique Elks Club tonight.

Cancer Drive Short Of Goal

Collections in the current cancer fund drive in Schoolcraft County have reached 56 percent of the county quota, it is announced by Mrs. J. Joseph Herbert, commander of the Schoolcraft County Chapter of the American Cancer Society.

Collections to date total $789, a little over half of the quota of $1,400.

State collections have reached 80 per cent of the Michigan goal of $320,000, with 24 counties reporting 100 percent achievements.

Only two of the 100 percent counties are in the Upper Peninsula, Menominee and a combined unit of Houghton-Keweenaw. The Houghton-Keweenaw unit was the first to go over the top with 182 percent of its quota.

Leading in state percentage was Leelanau with a reported 227 percent of its goal.

"Due to the fact that many counties, especially those in northern Michigan, were late getting started in their campaigns because of poor roads, we are extending the campaign time," it is announced by Thomas E. Walsh, state campaign chairman.

Fifty percent of money raised in Schoolcraft County is sent to national headquarters; the other 50 percent is retained by the local chapter to finance various local cancer control activities, including financial support of the cytology laboratory at Menominee.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white slipper satin gown with a sweetheart neckline, long lace sleeves and full skirt ending in a long train. Her fingertip veil fell from a headband of seed pearls. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls with matching earrings, a gift of the groom. She carried a small bouquet of red geraniums.

A wedding dinner for 20 guests was served following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents. A reception for 200 guests was held later in the afternoon at the home of the groom's parents. The bride's table was centered with a three-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom and flanked with candles.

The couple left later on a wedding trip to Mackinac Island, St. Ignace and Sault Ste. Marie. For her going away outfit the bride wore a lilac suit with matching accessories. Upon their return they will make their home at 502

Two Teams Cop Second Tri County Loop Wins

Two teams posted second straight wins in yesterday's Tri County baseball league slate while three clubs climbed into the win column for the first time this season.

Stephenson routed Daggett 8-1 for its second in a row and Wallace drubbed Foster City 21-12 for win No. 2.

The Escanaba Bears notched their first win of the season by beating Wilson 13-4. Hermansville drew blood with a 12-3 win at Bark River and Perronville toppled Felch 8-6.

Fans 15

Pitcher Ray Menard fanned 15 and allowed six hits in the full round against Wilson. The Bears, defending league champs, clouted 21 hits off a pair of Wilson hurlers. Menard led the way with four for five.

Billy Vincent tossed Perronville's win over newcomer Felch, fanning 13 and allowing six hits. Harold Charbonneau collected a homer in the seventh with none on for the winners.

Wallace collected 22 hits, including homers by Schutte, Russell, Paul and Johnson, in its victory over Foster City.

10 Errors

Five runs in the first inning, in which three errors were committed, gave Hermansville the jump on Bark River. Bark River's young players tagged Ernie Massington for six hits but were unable to bunt them. Joe Rademacher fanned 15 Hermansville batters and allowed nine hits. Bark River had 10 errors.

Stephenson and Daggett played scoreless ball until the fifth when the Steves put their first run across. They added two in the sixth and five in a big seventh while Daggett settled for one in the eighth.

Opening For One Team In Waubung

League officials announced today that there is an opening for one team in the Waubung League which will open play in this area soon.

Counted on to enter the circuit again this season are the Escanaba Cubs, A's of Escanaba, Gladstone, Powers and Bark River. It is hoped that a six-team league will be organized.

Escanaba will be represented by two teams this season for the first time. Players in the Waubung league are of American Legion Junior age.

Floyd Burdette is the eleventh basketball coach at the University of Alabama since the court game was introduced on an intercollegiate basis there in 1913.

Texas Christian New Spartan Gridiron Force

EAST LANSING — (AP)—Texas Christian, one of the powers of the Southwest Conference, was named as an added starter today on the 1953 Michigan State football schedule.

Next year will be the first season of official Big Ten football play for the Spartans. The schedule now calls for eight games, six with Western Conference schools.

Texas Christian will be at East Lansing Oct. 10, 1953. It will be the first football meeting meeting between the two schools.

Announcement of the 1953 game with the Horned Frogs was made following completion of negotiations between MSC Athletic Director Ralph H. Young and L. R. (Dutch) Meyer, Texas Christian athletic director and head football coach.

The 1953 schedule calls for four home games and four away. The open date is Nov. 21.

Young said Michigan State may settle for an eight-game schedule next year without trying to fill the remaining Saturday.

"We have a pretty tough schedule now with six conference teams signed," Young said. "We may let it go at that. Before the War we had a lot of eight-game seasons."

If the Nov. 21 date is not filled, the season will end with the game against arch-rival Michigan here Nov. 14. It will be the first time Michigan has played at East Lansing since 1948.

The national collegiate meet will be at Omaha June 10-16. The best-of-three playoff series will begin Friday with Illinois host to Ohio University and Western Michigan to determine the District No. 4 representative in the National Collegiate Athletic Association baseball tournament.

The two playoff winners will meet either at Illinois or Ohio University June 3 and 4, or June 4 and 5, for the right to go to Omaha.

Illinois and Michigan tied for the Big Ten title while Wisconsin finished third. Kobs said Wisconsin was chosen when Michigan declined to enter the NCAA playoffs.

Brewers Regain Top Spot In AA

(By The Associated Press) Milwaukee swept a Sunday doubleheader from St. Paul to gain the American Association lead from the Kansas City Blues who split with Minneapolis.

The Brewers moved ahead with a .636 percentage to the Blues' .615.

Milwaukee pounded three St. Paul pitchers for eight runs in the eighth inning to win the opener 13-6. Jack Dittmer's single produced three of four Milwaukee runs in the fifth inning of the nightcap as the Brewers grabbed a 5-3 decision.

Kansas City edged rallying 7-6 in the first game behind stout relief pitching by Dave Jolly and George Maier. The Millers took the afterpiece 3-1 with winner Norman Fox yielding only five hits, one of them Andy Carey's homer.

Escanaba scored one in the first and Negaunee tied it up in the second and then went ahead 2-1 with a singleton in the sixth.

Maki walked Jo Johnston and Paul Baldwin to open the bottom of the seventh. First baseman Paul Davidson picked up the first hit off Maki, a single to left, to score Johnston with the tying run. Tippy Laramay fanned and Francis Artley was tossed out at first base by the pitcher. With two down, shortstop Paul Gundersman cracked a single through the box to score Baldwin with the winning run.

Jack Chriske fanned 11, walked two and allowed five hits going the route for the Eskymos.

Extra Session For Qualifiers

INDIANAPOLIS — (AP)—The resumption of Chet Miller's interrupted assault on the Indianapolis motor speedway record was among the crowd attractions today in an unexpected extra qualifying session for the 500-mile Memorial Day auto race.

Two more qualifiers will fill the 33-car field. Then a driver must beat the slowest previous time to make the lineup.

Miller, 49-year-old Glendale, Calif., auto upholsterer, cracked the one-lap (2 1/2 mile) record Saturday with a circuit at 139.6 miles per hour. He was well on his way toward a new 11-mile record when his long white Novi V-8 conked out with a fused piston.

Miller and at least a dozen other cars were ready to run Sunday in the scheduled windup of two qualifying weekends but it rained all day. Another session was scheduled today.

Twenty-four cars qualified Saturday in a parade of ambitious drivers who came to the starting line almost as fast as officials could handle them. The 10-mile record, broken twice the previous Saturday, was cracked again by Bill Vukovich of Fresno, Calif., in a new Kurtis-Kraft owned by Howard Keck Co. of Los Angeles.

Vukovich, former National AAA midget racing champ, lowered the qualifying average to 138.212 miles per hour and set a one-lap mark of 139.427 that stood only until Miller raced.

Wrecks 99 If the weather and machinery co-operate, Miller will qualify today for his 16th Memorial Day race. His best finish was third in 1938.

Tony Bettenhausen of Tinley Park, Ill., the 1951 National AAA big car champion, also has unfinished business in today's time trials. He wrecked the famous Belanger 99 car Saturday on the short south straightaway while running about 136 miles an hour.

The car's triple-bump against the concrete retaining wall took it out of the race it won last year with Lee Wallard driving. Bettenhausen, with a bandaged arm, will try again in the front drive Blue Crown Special in which Mauri Rose twice won the "500."

Walker W. (Sonny) Jones, former Wyoming state football player, is a lieutenant in the Army assigned as a member of the Honor Guard attached to Gen. Ridgway's staff in Tokyo.

Eskymos Rally To Nip Negaunee 3-2 For 16th Straight Diamond Win

Coach Jim Rouman's Eskymos kept their winning baseball streak going by the narrowest of margins here Saturday afternoon.

Escanaba tripped Negaunee 3-2 for its 16th straight victory by rallying for a pair of runs in the last of the seventh inning.

The Escanaba team was the victim of a no-batter until the final inning. Ronald Maki, regular catcher, took over pitching duties for Negaunee for the first time. He was wild but effective in the clutches.

Escanaba scored one in the first and Negaunee tied it up in the second and then went ahead 2-1 with a singleton in the sixth.

Maki walked Jo Johnston and Paul Baldwin to open the bottom of the seventh. First baseman Paul Davidson picked up the first hit off Maki, a single to left, to score Johnston with the tying run. Ken Dufresne Hurls No-Hit Softball Win

A no-hit pitching performance by Ken Dufresne highlighted the weekend softball activity.

Dufresne set the Power & Light team down without a hit to lead the Dells to a 14-3 victory in the preliminary game at Memorial Field Saturday night. He fanned nine, walked six and hit two batters.

In the Saturday night windup Hamischteger edged a slick Badger Mills team 4-3 in 11 innings. Pitcher John Pierpon provided the winning run in the last of the seventh with a sharp single.

Sunday night the Dells won their second game of the season with a 12-11 decision over the Marquette Morham's team. Homers by Ray Ebli, Barney Millette and Bobby Anderson paved the way. Dufresne and Eleget shared mound duties. Elegetree the winning pitcher.

Marquette also banged two homers in the free-scoring tilt. Power & Light beat Paper Mill in the preliminary.

Soo, Wakefield And Pickford Take U. P. Track Championships

HOUGHTON—(Special) — Three new track and field champions were crowned at the Upper Peninsula finals meet held in a cold drizzle here Saturday.

The Soo Blue Devils buried all contenders to capture the Class B championship with an almost unbelievable 56½ point total, breaking Ironwood's stranglehold on the title. Wakefield wrestled the Class C crown from Bessemer with 47 7/10 points and Pickford took its first title in history by winning in Class D-E with 32 points. It was also Wakefield's first turn in the winner's circle.

The rain and wet track held times and distances to subnormal for the finals, but one record fell by the wayside. Pickford's crack medley relay team reeled off the distance in 2:47.5 seconds to erase Eben's 2:49.0 mark set in 1942.

Soo won its crown with an amazing display of team strength which saw the Blue Devils place in 12 events. The Blue Devils garnered five first places.

In one of the feature events of the program, Soo's Truman Van Liven nipped Escanaba's mile ace, Dick Casey, in the home stretch to win in 4:47.2, fast for the track. Casey led to within a few yards of the finish but couldn't hold off the Soo stalwart who has yet to be beaten in the mile this year. It was Casey's first defeat of the season.

John Connelly, Escanaba half-miler, placed fourth in the second 880 section, and the Eskymo medley relay team copped fourth.

There were three double winners in Class B. Joe Deldin of Kingsford (100 and 220); Richard Lake of Manistiquie (120 high and 180 low hurdles), and Ward Van Laanan of Iron Mountain (high and broad jumps).

There also were three double winners in Class C: Gerald Salmela of Wakefield (120 high and 180 low hurdles), Frank Stimac of Munising (100 and 220) and the Bessemer relay team (880 and 3/4).

George Tomasi of Hermansville (120 high hurdles and high jump) was the only double winner in Class D.

Pitchers Earn Hard-Luck Titles, Lose Low-Hitters

By JOE REICHLER

Art Houtteman, Murry Dickson and Bob Hooper are running neck-and-neck for hard-luck-of-the-year hurling honors.

At the moment, Houtteman is in the fore. The young Detroit twirler dropped a heart-breaker yesterday, losing a 1-0 decision to Marv Grissom as the Chicago White Sox twice shut out Detroit. Veteran Joe Dobson outpitched Virgil Trucks, 3-0, in the first game of the double-header.

Hooper also went down 1-0 as the Philadelphia Athletics were held to a split by Washington. The A's drew first blood, defeating the Senators, 2-1, as Bobby Shantz turned in a six-hitter to become the first American league pitcher to win seven games.

Lefty Lou Slesater got Washington even, however, edging out Hooper in the ninth when Pete Runnels drove in the only run of the game with a single that scored Jim Busby.

Two-Run Homer

Dickson, Pittsburgh's gritty righthander, was within one out of registering his first triumph since April 30—and only his second of the year—but a two-out home run by Dee Fondy with a man on base in the ninth inning dashed Murry's hopes. The blow came off Dickson's reliever, Ted Wilks, and gave the Chicago Cubs a 5-4 win over the Pirates.

Cleveland earned a split with the St. Louis Browns, winning the nightcap, 6-2, after Rogers Hornsby's men had taken the opener, defeating the Senators, 2-1, as Bobby Shantz turned in a six-hitter to become the first American league pitcher to win seven games.

Lefty Lou Slesater got Washington even, however, edging out Hooper in the ninth when Pete Runnels drove in the only run of the game with a single that scored Jim Busby.

The only run Houtteman gave up resulted from a wild pitch. That came in the first inning and scored Al Zarilla who had tripled with one out. Grissom, a former Tiger, surrendered only three hits for his first victory. Houtteman's record is 3-6. Four of his defeats have been by one run.

Hooper hasn't won a game while losing four. The A's have tallied only two runs for him in those four games. His defeat was 1-0, 3-0, 5-1 and 5-1.
